PRICE THREE CENTS

DELA. STATE FAIR

31 Chances Are Offered in Fancy Work Department

MANY DISPLAYS TO BE ENTERED

To the thousands of women and children who attend the Delaware State Fair each year, there is no exhibit that embraces so many interesting things to them than that devoted to the women's department. Embroideries and knitted things, fancy articles and garments for every day wear, showing the skill of womanhood with the needle and her ingenuity to help make the family purse provide decorative articles as well as things to wear, always, afford and stimulate the keenest interest among women. They want to see what Mrs. So and So has produced, having heard that she was working on certain things for the fair and the commendable and unfavorable—sometimes—remarks heard bring their own measure of reward.

This year's exhibit in charge of Miss Emeline Derickson, of Newark, will be as interesting as ever before and some new ideas that exhibitors have been keeping to themselves in order to carry off special prizes will make this show one of the most attractive.

In the branch devoted to white cotton embroidery, there are 27 opportunities of two prizes each to show her skill with the needle and win a prize. It embraces all kinds of embroidery and initial work as well as many novelties and unique decorations.

In the section devoted to colored cotton embroidery and other fancy work, there are 31 chances to win honors. The various difficulties of cross stitches, hemstitching and fancy work with two prizes for each variety gives scores of women a chance to view with their friends for honors.

Nine opportunities are given for two prizes each in practical and plain sewing, house dresses and aprons, underwear, laundry bags, rompers for the kiddies and doll dresses are the avenues through which prizes may be won.

The branch devoted to silk embroidery will be the mecca for those who have the time and opportunity to do fancy sewing and embroidery. There are seven prizes—two each for winners.

One of the greatest sections, however, is contained in that devoted to knitted and crocheted articles in silk or cotton and lace work. The many kinds of lace and knit pieces always afford splendid opportunity to show the trained eye and careful hand of the knitter and crocheter. There are two chances each on 29 varieties to win honors here.

For those who have the talent to quilt there are nine chances to display their handiwork, and some samples that have been prepared are wonderful exhibits of patience and skill.

Then the fancy knitted and embroidered articles in wool—shawls, sweaters, infants' caps and socks and slippers give thirteen ways with two prizes each to contestants.

One of the special exhibits in this building will be that done by women over 70 years of age. These consist of slippers, sweaters, cotton and silk embroidery, aprons, centerpieces and other articles, there being eight double prizes offered in this classification.

What the proud mother has "prepared for the coming of the baby is another chance given for original displays of the mother's love and there are five chances with two prizes each for this branch.

In the section devoted to the art amateur, there is a myriad of opportunities for the showing of unique and original ideas in the decoration of various articles. There are 31 double prizes offered in this classification.

Nineteen double opportunities for prizes are offered in the professional art exhibit. The flower exhibit contains five double prizes for the best display of art.

Alice Brady in one of her best pictures "Sinners," will be the attraction at the Opera House next Tuesday evening.

Salvation Army Contribution

To The Citizens of Middletown: I have been informed that several people of Middletown made a contribution to the Salvation Army Home Service Fund last year by check and for some unaccountable reason these checks were lost.

If these same people wish to contribute to the fund this year it will be very much appreciated. Make all checks payable to The Salvation Army Home Service Fund and mail to me at the following address.

Lightning Strikes Barn

During the heavy electric storm on Tuesday evening, the barn on the farm of Mrs. Minnie Ennis, on the road to Odessa, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The building was filled with hay which was consumed. The building and contents were partly covered by insurance.

TUBERCULOSIS AMONG STOCK

The extent to which bovine tuberculosis, if controlled, runs its course through a herd of cattle is shown in a recent report received by the United States Department of Agriculture from one of its field inspectors in Illinois. Every animal in a herd of grade Holsteins and Jerseys reacted to the tuberculin test. The herd consisted of 14 cows, 2 calves and 2 bulls. Upon post-mortem examination 6 of the animals showed such extensive lesions that the entire carcass was condemned and destroyed. All of the other reactors likewise showed lesions though not of such an extensive nature as to necessitate destruction of the carcass. The fact that every animal in the herd reacted and showed lesions makes the case one of the most striking ever recorded.

SWINE OWNERS CAUTIONED

The danger of tuberculous cattle to swine was further demonstrated by the sale of hogs from this farm early in the year. The first lot of 21 hogs sold showed such extensive lesions of tuberculosis upon post-mortem that the packing company refused to accept the remaining 50. These were subsequently sold to a local shipper and their identity and destination are not known. If the swine are still alive they are undoubtedly a menace to other stock. The Bureau of Animal Industry cautions swine owners against purchasing stock from farms where either tuberculous cattle or swine are kept.

The bureau inspector also reported that a week after the shipment of hogs had been made, a milk cow—a chronic cough—had died and the young stock was allowed to devour the carcass. Such a practice is responsible for a great deal of tuberculosis among swine in the United States. According to bureau officials, the facts stated should cause any livestock farmer who finds tuberculosis among his hogs or whose shipments of hogs are refused because of extensive lesions of that disease, to have his herd of cattle tested promptly. Unless the origin of infection is known and removed, tuberculosis is liable to run its course among all the cattle and swine on the farm.

STATE AND PENINSULA

Dover's gas rate will be $2.50 per thousand after September 1.

Beginning Monday, the price of bread in Wilmington will be cut from 17 to 15 cents.

The Maryland Agricultural Society has selected Salisbury for its annual meeting on November 9, 10 and 11.

Governor J. G. Townsend and son, Julian, have just finished the erection of a large lumber mill at Georgetown.

The Census Bureau reported Friday that the 1921 enumeration showed a population of 23,612 in Cecil county, Md.

Only 1000 of the estimated 5000 ex-service men in Wilmington and New Castle county have applied for the army victory medals.

A public fund has been raised to purchase kiddie cars for the children while foreign-born parents are working in the canning establishments of Houston.

Martin E. Smith, of Rose Hill, a well-known attorney, has announced his candidacy for the Levy Court on the Democratic ticket from the Fifth District.

The Newman Hotel, a landmark of Harrington, will be converted into a theatre. Since prohibition has been in effect the hotel business has been a losing venture.

Four vacancies among teachers are reported at Dover, though all positions were filled earlier in the year, the four vacancies being due to higher salaries being obtained elsewhere.

Difficulty in obtaining shipments of ice and refrigerator cars is causing the loss of thousands of dollars' worth of fruits and vegetables each week, according to growers and shippers from Laurel, Bridgeville and other fruit centres. The cantaloupe crop is hardest hit.

The Blue Hen Canning Company, one of the largest plants on the Eastern Shore, of Maryland, has announced that it will not operate its plants this season, the reasons given being that they still have a greater part of last year's canned goods on hand, and an almost total absence of cans.

Milk Law May Take Months

Not for many weeks, perhaps three months, will all the cows in Delaware have been tested for tuberculin taint, according to statements made by the State Board of Health officials. While the law requiring that all cows shall have been tested showing freedom from tuberculosis, or else have the milk pasteurized that producers sell from their herds, became effective August 1, yet because of the inability to test all the herds by this time, the State Board will not be able to enforce the test certificates for considerable time.

SATURDAY'S BALL GAME

In Saturday's ball game Middletown lost one of the hardest contests of the season, to Grace team, of Wilmington, after a 10 inning battle by the score of 5 to 3. It was a pitcher's battle between Collins and Myers and the local twirler apparently weakened in the 9th and 10th innings, allowing the visitors to score 4 runs.

A FINE RECORD

Chief of Police Hilyard deserves a "show" from the town and public he has served so well for these ten years just passed since August 17, 1910, when he was appointed. A blessed decade it has been with its success of ban, drunken police chiefs and all the trouble and in efficiency of some of his predecessors.

At risk of his life on several occasions and at cost of actual injuries received in a number of instances, chief has with unremitting fidelity kept watch and ward over our citizens and their property during all these ten years gone. The Transcript believes it not only a wise thing for public reasons to make some recognition of such a long and faithful service but also due him as a mere matter of justice, and therefore takes this means of expressing on its own and the Town's behalf its appreciation of the Chief and his fine record.

In these ten years Chief Hilyard has made 3000 arrests; committed 357 convicts to the workhouse; and collected $7,400.00 in fines for the town. The magnitude of this service merely measured in dollars of the fines collected, is realized when one compares it with the 25 years previous in which two and one half times longer period only $705.00 were collected in fines by his predecessors!

This is a record fine enough to make the Chief's hat burst its band—only his head never swells—another good point.

Field Day For Grangers

There will be two grange field days in Delaware this year. One at the fair grounds near Elmore, August 23, and the other at Rehoboth, August 24. The program at the fair grounds, August 23, is as follows:

10.30 to 12.00, base ball game between teams of Hockessin and Diamond State Granges. Also other sports.

12.30 to 1.30, basket lunch.

1.30, addresses by Hon. L. H. Ball, United States Senator, Hon. J. O. Walcott, United States Senator, S. J. Lowell, Master of the National Grange.

Worthy Master Jacob H. Roos will preside at the meeting and introduce the speakers.

The meeting at Rehoboth will also be in the form of a basket picnic. An interesting program has been arranged, the main feature will be an address by S. J. Lowell, Master of the National Grange at 2.00 o'clock in the afternoon. The public is cordially invited to attend these meetings and every subordinate Grange is asked to secure as large an attendance as possible.

Canneries Will Open

Baker's corn cannery will open for the season on Monday next, and the prospects for a large yield of corn were never better. They have contracted for 425 acres, of corn, at $20 per ton, and many of the growers expect to pull from 3 1/2 to 4 tons per acre.

The tomato cannery which is also owned by Mr. Baker will begin canning on Tuesday, and while they have not contracted there is a large acreage of tomatoes in this section, which should guarantee a heavy crop during the season. They will begin buying on Monday and will pay market price for all tomatoes delivered.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Many Condensed News Items of the Past Week

IN THIS AND NEARBY POINTS

Ross Hamburg, of this town, was unanimously elected constable for St. Georges hundred.

There have been a greater number of excursionists at Augustine Beach this year than in four years.

Very large quantities of tomatoes continue to pass through the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal.

George V. Wagner, of Claymont, has been transferred to Newark as agent at the Pennsylvania station to succeed William H. Evans.

Heavy rains have flooded the causeway on the road between Delaware City and Port Penn, recently re-opened to traffic after being closed over two years.

The new plate glass windows erected in front of the hardware store of Walter S. Letherbury are being greatly admired and add to the attractiveness of the building.

The bugies Bernardette, Captain Miles, Crisfield, with tomatoes from New Jersey enroute to Baltimore, was partially destroyed by fire in Back Creek, near Chesapeake City, Thursday night.

Smyrna's fire engine has been put in a thorough state of repair by factory experts, makers of the American LaFrance engine and the equipment is practically as good as new, and ready for service when called.

The tomato season is on and acres of tomatoes in and around Smyrna are ripening and ready for the packing houses. The John H. Hoffecker Canning Company, Smyrna's big and only packing house, will open next Monday.

A big drop in the wholesale price of sugar has made itself noticeably felt in Philadelphia and naturally will. One of Philadelphia's big retail stores advertised granulated sugar at 19c a pound. Sugar sometime ago was selling as high as 25c and 28c a pound.

"Big Thursday" at Bowers Beach last Thursday was attended by as large a crowd possibly as ever witnessed this well-known resort. Reports to the state authorities showed that the crowd was orderly and no offenses had been committed.

Everything is in readiness for the big Smyrna Firemen's Carnival which opens on Saturday evening, August 28, and judging from the vast crowds in attendance at Carnivals, recently held in Newark and Middletown, Smyrna should come in for a large share of this patronage.

Unless there is a check on hog cholera in lower Delaware, which is rapidly spreading to all sections, hundreds of porkers are going to be infected. The ravages of the disease, however, will not be as great as last year, because of the fact that many farmers have had their hogs vaccinated.

ST. ANNE'S CHURCH NOTES

EPISCOPAL
Sunday, August 22d, 1920. The 12th Sunday after Trinity.

Services: 10.30. Morning prayer and sermon.

7.30. Evening prayer and address. August 24th. St. Bartholomew's Day. "When thou wast under the fig-tree, I saw thee." St. John 1:58. St. Bartholomew was one of the twelve apostles, and is generally believed to be identical with that Nathaniel whom Jesus saw "under the fig-tree," before mortal eyes could have discerned him, and of whom He said, "Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile."

He preached the Gospel in Arabia and India, travelled through Asia, and finally settled in a city of Armenia; where he was most cruelly martyred by the idolatrous people whom he had tried to turn to the faith of Christ, flayed alive, it is said, by order of the king. Let us try to imitate the example of his ready faith and patient obedience, that we may be "faithful over a few things," and with him, hereafter "enter into the joy of our Lord."

The Rector asks every communicant to assist him in securing candidates for confirmation. Some have god-children whom they have vowed to bring to the Bishop to be "confirmed by him as soon as they can say the creed, the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments, and are sufficiently instructed in the other parts of the Church Catechism set forth for that purpose." Shame if the consecrated vow be found an idle form, the word an empty sound! Many, too, have adult friends who might be brought to confirmation, if they were interested in the church and her teachings.

"As a Man Thinketh." It is a practical doctrine, and it is a very beneficial practice to think of "whatsoever things are lovely" in the lives of others. It is as sensible as it is to thrive on the finest of wheat instead of starving the body by chewing worthless husks. A man's soul becomes small if it is fed on mean thoughts that cannot satisfy its natural longings for wholesome meditation and ennobling hopes. It cannot be otherwise. If a flower doesn't get sunshine it soon fades. So it is with the life of an individual. Life must be radiated by the cheerful sunshine of love for God and neighbors in order to become beautiful; and more noble still is the life that is enriched by Christ-like love for enemies as well. The results are as logical as they are evident. St. Paul gave sound advice when he said, "if there be any virtue, if there be any praise, think on these things." Good thoughts are a wise investment, because, "As a man thinketh, so he is."

NEW INSECT FOUND
Members of the Delaware State Board of Agriculture visited Riverton, N. J., this week to secure first hand information about the Japanese beetle. This insect must have come over in earth on the roots of imported plants. For the past two years every effort has been made by State and Federal entomologists to prevent its spread, and it has been confined to an area of about 50 square miles, so far as can now be determined, not including a small infestation that apparently was carried across the river by the tide into Pennsylvania.

The beetle spends the most of its time as a grub in the ground where it does little harm; but in the latter part of June and during July it comes out as a bright green beetle with rusty brown wing covers, and feeds on the leaves of fruit and forest trees, eats some fruit and is especially fond of the silk of corn. It is possible that its greatest damage will be to the last named crop, for if the silk is eaten, the grains of corn will not be pollinated and therefore, will not fill.

It is difficult to kill the insect by spraying, but investigations are in progress to discover an effective spray material. The most hopeful thing in sight is to import from Japan, insects that will eat the pest, and parasites that will kill it. Already a very voracious beetle has been imported in considerable numbers and has been distributed in the infested area. This beetle lives in the ground and feeds on the eggs and grubs of this Japanese beetle. The hope is to keep the pest confined within its present extent that they can control it.

Want Game Law Changed

Many members of the Legislature are proposing a one-day session for the correction of a blunder made in the game laws at the recent special session and say they would give a day's service gratuitously.

At the recent session, the Senate passed a Senate bill amending the game laws, and the House sent back a substitute, in which the Senate concurred. Failure to incorporate Revised Code provisions concerning rabbits "batted" the substitute and made this year a closed season for rabbit shooting. The new law was enacted near final adjournment, and because of haste the error was not detected in time for correction.

FOOD PROFITEERING

PROFITEERING in the very necessities of life was never so bold, so brutally cruel as for the last two years it has been right in the very teeth of repeatedly broken promises by this "reform" administration that the prices of foodstuffs were sure to come down.

The rich rascals that control and manipulate the prices of the chief staples, such as meats, sugar, coal, lumber, clothing, footwear, etc., have the millions of supposedly free Americans in bondage almost as truly as were the serfs of Russia under the autocratic Romanoffs!

Heaven knows, we say again, former administrations have not been faultless in this regard, but this Democratic administration, despite its fine promises to abate these crying abuses, has refused to do anything to prosecute the powerful corporations plundering the people. You might think from their inaction that profiteering was a laudable business which they should assist and promote!

True, now and then with great bluster and pretense of making war on these food rogues, these humbug officials fine some little sinner a few dollars, but carefully shut both eyes tight to the vastly greater crimes committed against the suffering people by the big sinners! They catch a few paltry minnows in their judicial nets, but carefully let all the man-eating sharks escape!

Take for a single illustration the outrageous sugar gouging conspiracy. A few years ago five cents was the price of granulated sugar, and a fine profit the manufacturer made on it at that figure. Till recently sugar, not always granulated either, has been selling from 28 to 30 cents. And at times the scoundrels held back supplies, thus creating an artificial sugar famine. You had to beg for the privilege of paying a highway-robbery price for a pound of sugar!

But it was always possible to get all the sugar you wanted if you were willing to stand the gouge. Probably without a single day's exception—certainly for most of the time—there was then more sugar in this country than ever before! The only reason sugar dropped from 30 to 17 cents, is that some of the rascals got scared and tried to unload.

"Why don't the officials at Washington do something?" You ask. How can they when the President himself helped the profiteers by refusing to buy the Cuban sugar crop for six cents, but instead paid 17 cents for Southern sugar?

Our present administration "protects" (?) the people in that peculiar fashion! Its officials merit the fine sarcasm that Chatham paid the British forces in America before the Revolution—"Formidable only to the people they are supposed to protect."

DOING THINGS BY WHOLESALE

Easy to See Many Advantages in New Methods Rapidly Being Brought to Perfection.

Heretofore we have bought medical service at retail. Now Glasgow is trying out a plan to sell medical service wholesale.

What Glasgow is striving to do is this: Divide the city in districts and provide free dispensaries and free doctors to all who need medical attention. It is claimed that such a scheme will reduce the death rate, because many poor people now skip their families in the matter of health precautions.

And the doctors like it, also. They work fewer hours and a standard pay is guaranteed. Withal, the Glasgow plan of wholesale doctoring is said to be cheaper than our old-fashioned retail method, "Ghirard" writes in the Philadelphia Press.

American cities have made half a step toward such doctoring of the people in wholesale lots.

We have boards of health and health bureaus. They administer in a general way and they administer in wholesale doses.

An order goes out and it goes for all the people. It is economical and wise, as every one knows, during such an epidemic as the "flu" was last year.

Doctoring by wholesale saved millions of lives in that one calamity. Uncle Sam did the financing of his own soldiers by wholesale in the last war.

Public schools supply education in wholesale quantities. The army and navy are supplied in wholesale quantities through the War Department.

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy

This is unquestionably one of the most successful medicines in use for bowel complaints. A few doses of it will cure an ordinary attack of diarrhoea. It has been used in nine epidemics of dysentery with perfect success. It can always be depended upon to give prompt relief in cases of colic and cholera morbus. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. Every family should keep this remedy at hand.

Cured of Stomach Trouble and Constipation

Rachel Cribble, of Beaver Dam, Ohio was sick for two years with stomach trouble and constipation, taking one medicine after another with only temporary relief. "My neighbor spoke so enthusiastically of Chamberlain's Tablets" she says "that I procured a bottle of them at our drug store to try. A few days treatment convinced me that they were just what I needed. I continued their use for several weeks and they cured me."

MONDAY, AUGUST 23d

ROBERTSON-COLE Presents
Sessue Hayakawa
—in—
"The Beggar Prince"

A twenty century romance with all the charm of the Arabian Nights. A fascinating photo-play bubbling over with good cheer. A story that is really something new under the sun. He started something he could never finish. He told the moon to hide its face and it did. Strand comedy. Pathe News.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 24th

REAL-ART Presents
Alice Brady
—in—
"Sinners"

Here is a picture that everyone should see, because it's the second Miracle Man. "Sinners" is a redemption picture with the story of a country girl, who migrates to the city and encounters some of its vice before she returns to her native hearth with the knowledge that sin doesn't pay. It's a wonderful picture showing Alice Brady at her best. Don't miss it. Sixth episode of "The Lost City." Relan comedy. Prices 28c and 14c. Tax included.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 25th

STATE-RIGHTS Presents
William S. Hart
—in—
"Staking His Life"

Did you ever see a bad Hart picture? Well, this is one of the best he ever made. Full of those dare-devil stunts, that makes you gasp and hold your breath, for you think he is coming down in the audience. William S. Hart is considered one of the best of actors in western stories, and this is a kind of picture that made him what he is to-day. Do't miss it. Vitagraph comedy. Fox News.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 26th

WILLIAM FOX Presents
William Farnum
—in—
"Wings of The Morning"

We don't have to tell you much about William Farnum. We all know that he doesn't make enough pictures. In this story, which is one of the strongest of his career, a sea story, that for dramatic suspense hair-raising battles with the angry sea, a man's determination to cheat the ocean of its prey. The great typhoon scene and William Farnum's breathless battle with the giant octopus, the terrific battle with the dykes, head-hunting pirates. It's great. Vitagraph comedy. Pathe News. Admission 33c and 17c. Tax included.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 27th

WILLIAM FOX Presents
Tom Mix
—in—
"The Cyclone"

Cyclone means disaster, and believe me, Tom Mix is a regular cyclone in this picture. Some of his stunts with horse flesh, shows him at his best. Space will not permit us to describe it fully. But don't miss it. The second episode of "The Silent Avenger." Hallroom boys comedy. Mutt and Jeff.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 28th

WILLIAM FOX Presents
William Farnum
—in—
"The Adventure"

Showing William Farnum in a romantic drama by E. Lloyd Sheldon. Showing you how William Farnum defends himself in one of the greatest fights of his life, with heavy odds and everything against him, back to the wall he fought desperately in one of the greatest sword duels that the stage has ever witnessed. Sunshine comedy. Billy West comedy. Fox News. Admission, 28c and 14c. Tax included.

I desire to announce to the public that I have secured the agency for

and am now taking orders for early delivery

The Buick car is too well-known in this community to need any boosting on my part, all Buick owners will testify to the truthfulness of the above statement.

By request of the Buick Co., it is necessary for me to have a Service Station, and I am now making arrangements to secure a suitable building location for this purpose.

It will be my motto to render the best possible service to customers, and to assure them personal attention at all times.

I have rented the vacant room in the building I sold recently to the Delaware Trust Company, Broad and Main streets, which I will equip as a show and accessory room, where the different models of Buicks may be seen.

Inexpensive Perfection in Farm Buildings

Practical experience, no less than scientific test, has definitely settled the fact that the wooden house is dryer and warmer than one built of any other material. It is therefore more healthful and more comfortable. This is just as true of the barns which shelter your stock as of the house which shelters your family.

We can show you a wood-North Carolina Pine—with which you can build your home, barns, sheds, silos, etc., at low cost and with every assurance of complete satisfaction.

If you are interested in up-to-date farm buildings we can get for you free an excellent book which ordinarily retails for $1.00. It contains plans, elevations and details of practically every kind of farm building.

ROYSTER'S FERTILIZER

If you delay, you may fail to get ROYSTER'S. You may even fail to get ANY fertilizer.

F. S. ROYSTER GUANO COMPANY
BALTIMORE, MD.

Time

is vital in the fertilizer business this Fall.

The World is short of wheat. The Farms are short of labor. Fertilizer is needed more than ever, but the fertilizer manufacturers are short of cars and labor to load cars.

It is impossible to supply the fertilizer needed this fall unless the shipping season is lengthened, and this can only be done by starting earlier. Why not place your order now for

FALL FROCKS MAKE THEIR ENTRY

Now that it is a settled fact that two piece dresses for fall share popularity with suits, for general and smart wear, it is agreeable to find that the new models on display are very trim and neat looking. There is a vague but intensely feminine style, and this promotes the liking for frocks to take the place of suits on the street and elsewhere. Suits themselves are rarely built on severe lines, although there is never a time when a plain suit, beautifully tailored, need make any excuse for itself, it is always good. But the fall season promises a variety of styles and ornamentation in frocks that are of substantial materials and destined to do much service.

All these circumstances pave the way for such smart examples of the new-fangled frock as that shown above. They are made, as suits are, of dependable wool fabrics in dark colors—serge, twill, broadcloth, duvetyne and the like, and a little study of these models will impress some new style points on the mind. In the frock which is shown above, a decoration on the skirt, of braid, simulating a neat looking embroidery, is a new departure. The longer waistline is an important item as is also the wide satin girdle with half-length sash, fashioned with long fringe at the end. Embroidery, like that on the skirt, emphasizes the jacket effect in the bodice and defines the cuffs on the three-quarter length sleeves. There is a plain narrow vestee of duvetyne, with little round buttons set in a row, which may be in a vivid or quiet color, or there may be two or three vestees furnished for one dress, so that one may change to suit occasions. This is a dashing little frock with a decided Spanish flavor, that may be carried out in the hat worn with it. There is a mere suggestion of it in the small headpiece with upturned brim that has been chosen and shown in the photograph.

SWAN SONG OF SUMMER HATS

Summer hats, so far as designers of them are concerned, will soon be a thing of the past, for designers are always looking forward and fashioning headwear for the days to come. But they force their thoughts away from summer time reluctantly; one is sure of that when the last of their designs—the hats of late summer—reach their appearance. They seem to be the most exquisite of all millinery and poems of apparel—like the swan song of the swan—sweeter than all others.

A hat like that shown at the top of the group is entitled to more than a brief mention, since it is a beautiful and comparatively simple style. It has a round, well-proportioned crown of straw, with a band and bow of ribbon which may be of any light, smooth material or of a sheer fabric. For whatever there is a band and bow of ribbon about the crown, old blue in color, that makes a delightful background, like the summer sky, for a few weeks of small flowers posed around it. Sometimes a similar shape in light or hump or other braid in a light color dispenses with the ribbon band, but the flowers massed against the crown, and both crown and band veiled with malines. The design is simple, but the effect is very simple white dress, made of one of the embroidered robes now sold in all the shops, can be given a slightly different appearance each time the dress is worn.

Julia Bottomly

Hat of the Hour.
The hat of the hour is a broad-brimmed straw or taffeta surrounded by a white floral wreath, particularly of lilies of the valley or lilacs. With such hats the white draped veil gives the final note in daintiness and coolness.

IN LATE SMOCKS

Popular Midsummer Garment Made of White French Crepe.

Substitute for Sweater and is Distinctly for Country; Sport Hats Are Available.

Garden smocks for midsummer are of white French crepe, embroidered in a combination of many colors, such as green, rose, blue and yellow. These blouses, being designed especially for hot weather wear in the country, are cut with a square neck, somewhat low, and short sleeves. Very often the bottom is trimmed with fringed ribbon of a color to blend with the embroidery. For those who desire even more elaboration they may be had with rows of narrow bright colored ribbon, one above the other, outlining the neck and sleeves. Sashes are made for them by joining rows of ribbons.

All this sounds very gay, but, since they are distinctly for the country and intended to take the place of the sweater, it is almost impossible to make them too bright. Such blouses are much more becoming to most figures than the ordinary shirtwaist. Now is an excellent time to buy sport hats. Shapes in these are very much the same year after year, their interest lying chiefly in the materials and trimmings. Early in the season it is difficult to find good-looking sport hats. Now there are any number of pretty ones, so it is a good plan to buy with an eye to what will be useful not only now but for starting the next season.

It is difficult to get hats that match or harmonize with sweaters or smocks. There are garden or sport hats of braided straw that come in every sweater shade. These are so soft that they may be crushed into almost any shape. Consequently, they are easily packed in a traveling bag.

NEW FALL BLOUSE OF SATIN

This is one of the new fall blouses in satin striped indestructible voile where the pleat, little more than a frill, is outlined all around in a plaited frilling of the sheer silk.

This Is the Day of Lace

Ornamentation of Bygone Days Returns and Rich Pieces are Brought into Service.

If the styles of this year do not inspire a woman to go down into her trunk and look up the lace box of other days, then she is never likely to get inspiration again and she may as well pass the lace on to someone else, suggests a fashion writer.

Haven't you moved that box of laces around from trunk to trunk and drawer to drawer until sometimes you wished that it really could go to a rummage sale?

But, of course, this summer you are pleased with yourself for having had the perseverance to save all of them in this box and, in spite of the riot of organdie, to be able to use every scrap of lace. It doesn't matter particularly what the width or whether it is black or white or even if it has been dyed. And one is not confined to any special material or to any line or set method of using it.

All one needs with deep flouncing is a nice slip of satin, the flounce is white hung at the depth the lace will allow, and not added to make the tunic longer or shorter.

Many women do not like the scallop at the bottom of the flounce. But in this case a hem of net can be cleverly added to the edge, filling in between the scallops and cut out under the flounce.

Looking Forward to Fall
New Frocks in Course of Construction Should Conform to the Autumn Styles.

Any frocks that are being made up now should conform to fall style specifications, unless, of course, distinctly summer fabrics are being used. Usually the summer wardrobe is about complete by this time and anything added is inspired by a bargain sale or simply a "filler-in" for some special occasion.

Satin and tricot are combined in innumerable frocks and for very early fall street frocks entirely of satin or of taffeta will be approved.

As one of the extremely smart style features is the street frock of serge, satin jacket, it will be quite possible for a woman to use the coat of a suit with satin skirt in developing a next season street dress. One clever dress recently shown showed a redingote coat of tan wool fabric with black satin skirt. Navy and black, however, are more frequently shown.

Angora wool flowers make an attractive trimming for these.

To make a sport costume very smart the colors of the dress must be carried out in the hat. For instance, a blue and beige clad skirt, topped by a light-weight navy blue sweater, is charming when worn with a hat of dark blue taffeta trimmed with tan worsted. Such a hat may have a rolling brim, with a band formed by braiding several strands of the beige worsted placed around the extreme edge and a similar band finished with tassels encircling the crown. Variations of this may be made by introducing different embroidery stitches. The same model in soft, bright colored straw, when trimmed with white yarn, is charming with a sweater of the same shade.

GOWN IS SURE TO WIN FAVOR

This dress of finest handkerchief linen is just what is desired by the fastidious. The embroidery is in colored wools.

Use of Lace.

An attractive use of lace appears in an evening frock with ruffles of fan-plaited lace cascading down the entire side from the top of the bodice to the hem of the skirt. Draperies of taffeta and lace are not confined to frocks. They take quite as important a place in midsummer millinery. The taffeta is usually wound around the hat to give a draped effect and the lace forms a brim or falls as an eye veil.

Beaded and Embroidered.

The new fall blouses show a large number of beaded and embroidered georgettes. They are designed on the popular overblouse lines.

Waistline to the Hip.

The waistline seems to have migrated to the hip, for the newest French dresses have a waistline which rests on the hip.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

It is a pleasant thing to reflect upon—that every baby born into the world is a finer one than the last.—"Nicholas Nickleby."

WHAT SHALL WE HAVE TO EAT

When there is a cupful or two left of baked or boiled fish, try:

Turban of Fish.—Scald one and one-half cupfuls of milk with one slice of onion, a blade of mace and a sprig of parsley; remove the seasonings. Melt one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add the same amount of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of cayenne, then add the scalded milk gradually and two well-beaten yolks. Put a layer of fish on a buttered dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper and add a few drops of lemon juice. Cover with sauce, continuing with the fish and sauce, shaping in a pyramid form. Cover with buttered crumbs and brown in a hot oven.

Macaroni and Cheese in the Fireless Cooker.—Boil one cupful of macaroni fifteen minutes, add one teaspoonful of salt to a quart of boiling water. Rinse, drain and place in a casserole. Fill the dish with milk, stir in one tablespoonful of flour cooked in two tablespoonfuls of butter long enough to blend it. Add one cupful of grated cheese and sprinkle thickly with paprika. Pack in a cooker between two moderately heated radiators, using one radiator as a cover to the casserole. Bake one and one-half hours. Do not heat the stones too hot or the dish will be baked hard and dry.

Salmon Box.—Line a bread pan slightly buttered with warm, cooked rice well seasoned, cooking it in broth of milk if possible. Skim milk will do nicely. Fill the center with cold-boiled salmon flaked and seasoned with salt, pepper and a slight grating of nutmeg. Cover with rice and steam one hour. Turn out on a hot platter and surround with an egg sauce. The egg sauce is a simple drawn butter sauce to which the beaten yolks of two eggs are added with a teaspoonful of lemon juice.

Fried Egg Plant.—Pare and cut in thin slices. Pile the slices on a platter, sprinkling each slice with salt, cover with a plate and weight. Let stand one hour, drain, rinse each slice in cold water, dip in beaten egg, then in seasoned crumbs and fry until brown.

August brings the snowy lilies, Circle robes of spooling white, Walking like a queen among them As she flings them left and right; Lilies pure and lovely crown her, And her dress in every fold Wears the semblance of a lily In its dream of white and gold.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS.

For the beginning of a dinner a soup of some kind is always in season; hot or cold, they add to the meal.

Corn and Chicken Soup.—Take six cupfuls of chicken broth, add one cupful of corn pulp and half a cupful of cold chicken cut very fine. Season with salt, pepper and celery salt. Simmer half an hour, then add a tablespoonful of butter and half a cupful of milk. Bring to the boiling point and serve. This soup may be thickened with egg yolk, making it more nourishing.

Lamb in Aspic.—Make a highly seasoned soup stock of vegetables, broth or beef extract, using a package of gelatin for each quart of stock. Soak the gelatin and add to the hot stock; stir until dissolved. Rinse a plain mold in cold water and pour in a layer of the aspic jelly, keeping the remainder warm. When the jelly in the mold is congealed but not hard, cover with thin slices of cold roast lamb and sprinkle with mint sauce. Cover with more jelly and repeat when the jelly hardens. Continue until the dish is full, having jelly on top. Set on ice to harden.

Veal Croquettes.—Chop cold cooked veal very fine. Season with salt, pepper, grated onion, paprika and a little tomato catsup. Bind with raw egg, or a very little thick cream sauce. Shape into croquettes, dip in egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat.

Raspberry Charlotte.—Take two cupfuls of fresh raspberries, or canned will do, the juice of half a lemon, four ladyfingers, rolled into crumbs, and the whites of four eggs beaten stiff; mix lightly and pour into a buttered baking dish and bake 25 minutes. Serve with a thin custard sauce.

Swiss Eggs.—Spread a stonevare platter with butter and lay on it very thin slices of cheese. Sprinkle with nutmeg and salt, then break over this enough eggs to serve the family. Pour over a half cupful of cream, sprinkle with salt and bake until the eggs are firm. Serve from the platter.

A commonplace life, we say and we sigh; Yet why do we sigh as we say? The commonplace sun in the commonplace sky—Makes up the commonplace day.

The moon and the stars are commonplace things; The flower that blooms and the bird that sings; But and were the world and dark the lot, If the flowers faded and the sun shone not, And God, who sees each separate soul, Out of commonplace lives makes his beautiful whole.

FOOD FOR THE ILL.

Indigestion, stomach trouble of various kinds as well as intestinal troubles have so many forms and causes that it is never safe to trust one's own ideas in regard to the kind of food one should eat. A physician after diagnosis will give a list of the various foods it is safe to eat; however it is probable that toast which is lightly toasted on the outside, soft and full of moisture inside is unwholesome for the most healthy stomach. Toast should be made of bread at least two days old, cut one-half inch thick and dried for a few moments in the oven to remove any moisture, then while still hot from the oven slowly toasted a golden brown. Too many cooks serve toast by the recipe given by the small boy—"toast bread until black, then scrape it at the kitchen sink."

Eggs, milk and combinations of eggs and milk when carefully prepared in regard to the one who is to eat the dish are foods which will be taken with comfort.

Custards of all kinds, cooked just long enough to be smooth and velvety are not monotonous though served often.

Fried foods of all kinds should be eliminated as they are especially hard to digest.

Fruit juices, jellies, gelatin dishes and sea moss are desserts which may be commonly served in ordinary cases.

Apple Custard.—Take five well-beaten eggs, add a quart of milk and one pint of strained apple sauce. Sweeten and flavor to taste and bake carefully until firm. Set the pan of custard into a pan of hot water to bake.

With each beating human heart Lie buried out of sight The thoughts that throbb like things apart And wait to find the light—From depths unseen the heart's own soul Sends forth its flowers like golden-rod.

SOME GOOD SUMMER SALADS.

In no season of the year are salads as much enjoyed as during the warm weather when the appetite lags and crisp fresh things are most welcome.

Cucumber Jelly.—Cut peeled cucumbers and tomatoes into dice, saving the juice. Season with grated onion, pepper and salt. Dissolve half a package of gelatin in two cupfuls of liquid, add to the vegetable juices, stir until well mixed, cool, cut in cubes and serve in tomato cups with mayonnaise.

String Beans.—Wash the beans and put them to cook with a little bacon fat stirring and cooking for five minutes, then add a very little water, set back where they can simmer, adding a very small amount of water when needed. Season and cook for two hours. Serve hot with curried bacon.

Steamed Radishes.—Cook without peeling, the radishes, and if small, leave whole. Serve in a white sauce, using plenty of seasoning. If boiled, use very little water and reserve it for making the white sauce, so that the nutriment and flavor may be saved.

Corn and Green Peppers.—Cook a medium-sized pepper in sweet fat, then add corn, seasoning and cook until slightly browned. Serve hot.

Icebergs.—Dissolve two cupfuls of sugar in three cupfuls of water (boiling); cool, add three-fourths of a cupful of lemon juice, color leaf green and freeze. Serve in stemmed sherbet glasses. Put a teaspoonful of cream in each glass, sprinkle with finely chopped nuts, using almonds, almonds, pecans and walnuts in equal proportions. These may be used with the meat course, or between courses, or as a finish to the meal.

Sicilian Sorbet.—Press a can or an equal amount of fresh peaches through a sieve, add one cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of orange juice, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, and when well mixed freeze.

TO PROTECT ALUMINUM.
To protect aluminum and aluminum alloys from corrosion, says the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, L. von Grothuss has tried browning the metal electrolytically. By using this method, the aluminum may be bent or rolled without the coating. Aluminum thus treated was immersed in a salt solution for two months without showing the slightest trace of corrosion.—Chemical Round Table.

Celluloid.
Celluloid, from which many toilet articles and imitations of ivory are made, is composed from the cellulose found in cotton cloth or raw cotton. It is treated with a solution of nitric acid which forms it into a pulp very much like paper pulp. It is then washed with water, which removes most of the acid. It is partially hardened and camphor gum mixed with it, when it is rolled into sheets and thoroughly dried. To manipulate it, it is softened by steam and then hardened by drying.

CHILDREN AND BOOKS.
It does the child no harm to make the acquaintance of books which were not written for children. In a home where the great books that have inspired or amused successive generations are accessible an active-minded child is likely at some time to get at them. If we want our children to fall in love with the better kind of books let us provide them with opportunities for meeting such books without too much formality.

Orchid Hunting Profitable.
Orchid hunting is a business that engages the efforts of many courageous adventurers, who explore the wildest and most remote parts of the world in the hope of finding rare or new varieties. Success in this kind of enterprise may bring large reward, inasmuch as a single plant may have a market value of thousands of dollars.

How Island Got Name.
Antipodes Island, not far from New Zealand, was thus named because it is directly opposite to London.

Keep Your Standards High.
Never yield to the temptation to do a thing which will lower your character. Whether the thing in question is the reading of an objectionable book, or slighting your work, or giving way to anger or envy, one of the worst things about it is that it lessens your self-respect. Since we have to be our own constant companions, not only in this world, but in the next as well, nothing can make up to us for doing a thing which impairs character.—Girls' Companion.

Riddles.
What is it that is full of holes yet it holds water?
A sponge.

What kind of plant is a boy who never learns from experience?
An evergreen.

Why should a robin be angry if you were to call him a plover?
Because you would be making game of him.

What is the best butter in the world?
A girl.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

THE GREEN FROG.

"I'm a green frog, and as I tell you this you may be surprised, as you will say:

"Aren't frogs usually green?"
"But I will have to tell you my whole story."

A little boy named Peter was sitting in a big chair. He had fallen fast asleep. He had just been given a present and had brought it home with him. It was a frog sitting on a green pond lily leaf, and at one end there was a little pond lily opened up to

"ew, and resembling the natural lily. The frog and the stand and the pond lily had been made by some boys in a pottery class in a big school. Peter had gone to see the school, or, rather, his mother had taken him there, and he had been so much interested in all that the different boys and girls had been doing. There was a pottery class and a millinery class and a cooking class and a drawing class, and there was a little print shop and all sorts of interesting things.

Well, Peter had admired the frog so much that it had been given to him, and he had brought him home in a piece of paper. The frog's head had stuck out of the piece of paper coming home and Peter said:

"He wants to see what is going on."

Then Peter had put him down on the table and he had sat beside him and had watched him.

He was of a bright green color, and just the same as the leaf and as the pond lily. Where the pond lily was cut out in the piece of pottery one could put some water and a little flower, and Peter had planned that he would get a flower the very next day and put it in water so the frog could look at it.

The frog was so real looking that it was hard for Peter to remember that the frog wasn't really real at all!

And Peter had fallen asleep as he had sat looking at his frog.

"Do you like me, eh?" the frog asked, and blinked his eyes.

"Oh, yes," said Peter, "and I was so glad when you were given to me. I was simply delighted."

"I looked at all the different things the boys had made in the pottery class and I thought to myself:

"Oh, if only I could have that frog," and then one of the boys asked me if I would like to have you!

"Oh, it was just as though he had read my thoughts."

"Maybe he did," said the frog. "Maybe he did."

"And how did you like being made out of pottery?" asked the boy.

"Oh, I liked it," said the frog. "As was being made so many other things were being made and we all got so interested in ourselves and in each other, and we behaved so well and the boys do as they want to with us and didn't cause them any trouble."

"We wanted him to have a fine exhibition of pottery and so we did our best to help."

"Oh, it was such fun seeing a frog made of oneself. It was such fun. Goog-a-room, goog-a-room," said the frog.

"Why, frog," said Peter, "you talk like a regular frog."

"Of course I do," said the frog. "When I'm only in your dreams. When you wake up you'll find I'm just a nice pottery frog, but in your dreams I'll talk and talk and talk all you want me to. And I'll sing you a frog's song if you like."

"Oh, do," said Peter.

"I'm a frog, yet not a frog, I sit on something which is not a log. If I were real I'd sit on a log. But if I were real, I'd be a real frog."

"Fine, fine!" shouted Peter, and suddenly he awoke and saw the frog sitting before him, quite quiet, with his mouth shut tight; but he knew how much the frog could talk in his dreams. And it was enough that in Peter's wakeful moments he could look at and enjoy his beautiful pottery frog!

Puts I Will In You Easy to Get Strong

Everyone wants more pep and surety needs it this hot weather. Hot weather takes away the appetite and makes one feel listless, lifeless, miserable, even when you have a strong stomach, but for those who have weak stomachs, it is really a dangerous, trying time.

Be on the safe side this kind of weather and help nature all you can, by taking an eatonic tablet about half an hour before you eat and one or two an hour after you eat; it will be of wonderful benefit. Eatonic simply takes up the excess acids, poisons and gases, and carries them right out of the body. With the cause of the trouble removed, of course you will feel fit and fine—full of pep all the time. Eatonic will cool feverish mouth and stomach and give you a good appetite, even in hot weather.

Get a big box of your druggist's for a trifling cost and let eatonic help you for a few days; then you will never be without it. Adv.

OATS BEST CROP

Statistics Show Advantages Over Corn Growing.

On Comparatively Cheap Land in Western Canada Farmers Get Record Yields—Cost Per Acre Much Less Than Corn.

How much more does it cost to grow an acre of corn than to grow an acre of oats? To get a proper comparison it is necessary to take an illustration from a farm on which both crops are grown successfully. An example has just been brought to the writer's attention of the comparative cost of growing corn and oats on a Minnesota farm. It is furnished by Albert Inner, a well-known farmer in Cottonwood county, Minn., in an article which appeared in the Cottonwood Citizen.

Mr. Inner says: "I had a curiosity to know how much it would cost to raise an acre of oats and corn. To find out I kept account, during the year, of the time required and the cash expended to grow the above mentioned crops." His figures show that it cost him $31.49 to grow an acre of corn and $18.13-1/3 to grow an acre of oats, or a difference of $13.00 an acre in favor of oats.

Provided the respective crop yields are not altogether out of proportion to the cost of growing the crop, this seems to be a good argument in favor of growing oats. But to grow oats successfully it is not necessary to use $150 or $200 land. In western Canada some of the best oat-growing land in the world can be bought for about $20 an acre. On this land good yields and a high quality of grain is obtainable.

Fifty to sixty bushels to the acre in properly prepared land is a fair average yield for oats in western Canada in a normal season but yields of up to 100 bushels, and even more, to the acre have been frequent in good years. The quality of oats grown in western Canada is attested by the fact that at all the international exhibitions for many years past oats grown in western Canada have been awarded the leading prizes. There is on record oats grown in western Canada that have weighed as much as 48 pounds to the measured bushel, and the Dominion grain inspector is authority for the statement that 85 per cent of the oats examined by him in western Canada weigh more than 42 pounds to the measured bushel. The standard weight for a bushel of oats is 34 pounds.

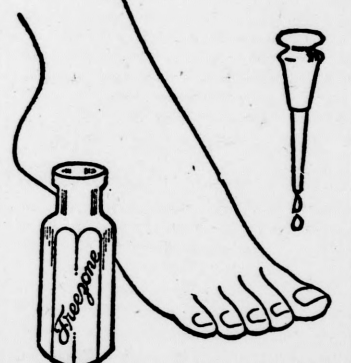

Samples of these oats weighing upward of 45 pounds to the bushel are on exhibition at the Canadian government information bureau, located in various cities in the United States.—Advertisement.

WOMAN POWER IS WASTED ON FARM

One of Greatest Menaces to Rural Life of Nation, According to Specialists.

MODERN EQUIPMENT IS NEEDED
Instead of Using Increased Income for Purchase of More Land Farmers Should Spend Some of It in Raising Standards.

The waste of woman power is one of the greatest menaces to the rural life of the nation, according to deductions that specialists of the United States department of agriculture draw from a farm survey conducted in the 33 northern and western states. The survey was made under the direction of Miss Florence E. Ward, in charge of extension work with women, office of extension work, north and west, states relations service. The records cover 10,015 farm homes, averaged by taking typical communities of the counties in which the survey was made. Much of the information was gathered personally by home demonstration agents, who are the field representatives of the United States department of agriculture and the state agricultural colleges.

Miss Ward points out, from the facts shown by the survey, that a reasonable amount of planning and well-directed investment in modern equipment for farm homes would prevent a large part of this wastage of the energy of the nation's rural homemakers. "This is a serious matter," she continues, "because we have a live national problem now in working out the economics of country living in such way as to make them satisfied to stay on the land and help build it up. Perhaps the greatest factor in bringing this about will be the healthy, alert, and expert home-maker who will see to it that part of the increased income from the farm goes into improvement of the home. At a time like this, when the death of farm labor is a limiting factor in production, it is very doubtful business policy for farmers to use increased income to buy more land instead of using a part of it in raising standards of living so that women and young people will not want to go to the cities in search of attractive living conditions and amusement."

Ninety-Six Per Cent of F. m. Women Interviewed in Recent Survey Do the Family Washing, About Half of Them Doing the Work With Tub, Washboard and Boiler, a Back-Breaking Task.

Picture of Farm Woman's Work Day. The survey discloses a number of the reasons why many women do not find farm life attractive. The working day of the average farm woman, as shown by the survey, is 11.3 hours, the year round. In summer, it is 13.12 hours. And 87 out of each 100 women have no regular vacation during the year. On the average, the farm woman can find only 1.6 hours of leisure during the summer and only 2.4 hours in winter. Half of the farm women are up and at work at 5 o'clock in the morning.

Forty per cent have water in the kitchen, but the other 60 per cent must go to the spring or the pump to bring the water for cooking breakfast. Thirty-six per cent help with the milking. On the average, the farm woman has a 7-room house to keep in order. Seventy-nine per cent have kerosene lamps to trim and fill. Ninety-six per cent do the family washing, about half of them having washing machines and the other half doing the work with tub, washboard and boiler. Twenty-six per cent have gas or electric irons to make more comfortable the task of ironing. Ninety-two per cent do some or all of the family sewing. Garden work is done by 56 per cent, 94 per cent make all or part of the family bread and 60 per cent have churning to do. Eighty-one per cent of all poultry flocks are cared for by women. One fourth of the farm women help to feed and bed the live stock, and 24 per cent of them spend over six weeks in the year assisting

Various Species of Gulls. The common species of gulls found in the region of the Great Lakes in the winter are the herring and ringed bill. The former can be told by his larger size, and his flesh-colored feet. The feet of the ringed bill are bluish in tint, as if the poor bird had frozen them in the cold water; he also has a distinct dark ring on his bill. The darker-colored birds seen in the harbors at this season are usually immature herring gulls. The habits of the ringed bill are similar to those with some part of the herring gull. All of this is in addition to cooking the family meals and caring for the children.

This, of course, is the dark side of the shield. It does not take into consideration the many compensations that come with the woman's daily round of work for the comfort of her family, and anyone who has experienced the satisfaction of living in the open country knows that the average farm woman is more fortunately placed than her average city sister. But the task is sufficiently grinding, as Miss Ward says, to send the farm woman to bed "breathing a prayer that her strength may be equal to tomorrow's duties."

Labor-Saving Equipment Important. What is to be done about it? The department suggests some very definite things. "The interest of the department of agriculture in the returns from these studies as to labor, working equipment, and compensations of the farm women are as practical," says Miss Ward, "as its interest in farm studies regarding labor, machinery and crop returns, and for the same general reason."

The farm woman's working hours might be shortened, she continues, if the principles of modern business were applied to the farm home. Running water for the 60 per cent who now must carry water, and bathrooms for the 80 per cent who now have none are other things that would lighten the woman's labor and add to her comfort and contentment. Labor could be lessened if the farm house were as well equipped as the up-to-date barn, which the farmer looks upon as so much currency with which to buy efficiency. The installation of modern lighting systems would release some of the time of the women in the 79 per cent of homes where kerosene lamps are used. The initial cost would be small when weighed against convenience and comfort. The installation of heating systems would release some of the time of the 54 per cent of women who care for two coal or wood stoves.

"As power on the farm is the greatest of time and labor savers for the farmer," Miss Ward's report says, "the power in the home is the greatest boon to the housewife." Forty-eight per cent of the farms covered by the survey reported power for operating farm machinery but only 22 per cent have this advantage for the home. "That," says Miss Ward, "is a singular fact when we consider that frequently it is a simple matter to connect the engine used at the barn with the household equipment." The washing machine is another labor-saver. Selling the cream to a creamery wherever possible instead of churning it at home is still another. In short, the same sort of intelligence and a fraction of the money applied to making field and barn work convenient would, if applied to the home, save untold drudgery to the women of the farms and would add both to the profit and the comfort of farm life.

RECIPES WHICH WILL SERVE FIFTY PEOPLE

Quite Convenient for School, Club or Grange.

Experienced Cooks Are Often Troubled in Preparing Food for a Large Number—Formulas for Cocoa and Cream Soup.

Cooking in large amounts often troubles even the experienced cooks, for most women are accustomed to plan for only small numbers. When a hot dish is to be served in school, club, or grange a recipe for a large number is convenient to have, say home economic experts of the United States department of agriculture. The following recipes for cocoa and cream soup will serve fifty.

Cocoa.
Cocoa, 1 1/2 cups. Boiling water, 3 quarts.
Milk, 8 quarts. Water, 1 pint.

Mix cocoa with pint of cold water until smooth; add boiling water and boil twenty to thirty minutes, stirring occasionally. Add sugar to hot milk in double boiler, and pour cocoa mixture into this. Beat with egg beater until froth forms on surface.

Cream Soup—Potato.
Potatoes, 8 pounds. Scalded milk, 10 or 24 of medium quarts.
Onions, 4 medium-sized ones. Flour, 1 1/2 cups.
Boiling water, 2 salt, 6 tablespoons.
Cayenne, 1/4 teaspoon.
Parsley, 4 table-spoons, chopped.

Make a white sauce of scalded milk, fat, flour, and salt; add to this the cooked, diced, or mashed potatoes and onion. Season; serve hot.

This recipe may be used for any cream soup by substituting any other vegetables for the potato and onion or by using fish for flavoring.

YOUNGSTER MADE WORD GOOD

Though, as it Turned Out, It Was at the Cost of Some Personal Discomfort.

Marshall, who is five, lives in a flat building. He is a real boy and although he has a rear yard and a sand pile in which to play, his mother has more or less trouble keeping him off the streets. A neighbor saw him across the street one morning and the next day called his attention to the fact that he was out of the zone mapped for him. He was one of the busy ones about a vegetable wagon. "Yes," he said, "I had to get some things." The next morning he asked his mother for the market basket. He immediately disappeared and soon returned, accompanied by the vegetable man. In the basket were three pounds of potatoes, a box of berries and two cantaloupes. Mother had to settle whether she needed the goods or not. At any rate, Marshall made his word good with the neighbor that he had to get "some things." When questioned by the same neighbor about his shopping expedition he said: "Yes, and mother spanked me, too."

Special Care of Baby.
That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

the originator of Postum Cereal
was building upon a sure foundation when he devised this most famous of all cereal beverages.

Where one used it in place of coffee, in the beginning, tens of thousands drink it today—and prefer it to coffee.

Healthful, delightful to taste and satisfying to every one at table.

Postum is now recognized as coffee's one and only great competitor among those who delight in a coffee-like flavor.
